High School Staff Completes Evaluation

Every seven years the Mount Gilead High School is evaluated by a team of educators to determine if the school meets the standards for North Central High School and College Accreditation. Mount Gilead is the only school in Morrow County which is associated with North Central. This is important to all Mount Gilead students because they can be accepted by any college with North Central affiliation without additional entrance exams. A local steering committee made up of chairman Merrill Brucker, Dorothea Barry, Dale Brown, Josephine Gerhardt, John Quinn, and Joe Griffith worked with the high school staff in writing a self-evaluation of the school system. Considered in the evaluation were such items as teacher certification, course offerings in each subject matter area, physical facilities, adequacy of libraries, and many other factors related to quality education. A team of twenty-four area educators spent two days in the school observing classes, talking to faculty and students, and viewing school facilities. The North Central team, under the leadership of Dr. Herbert Schneider, wrote their final evaluation which pointed out strengths and weaknesses of the high school's educational program. The final report was very complimentary of Mount Gilead High School's overall educational program.

Principal Joe Griffith, Dr. Herbert Schneider, and Merrill Brucker serve as coordinators for the North Central Evaluation.

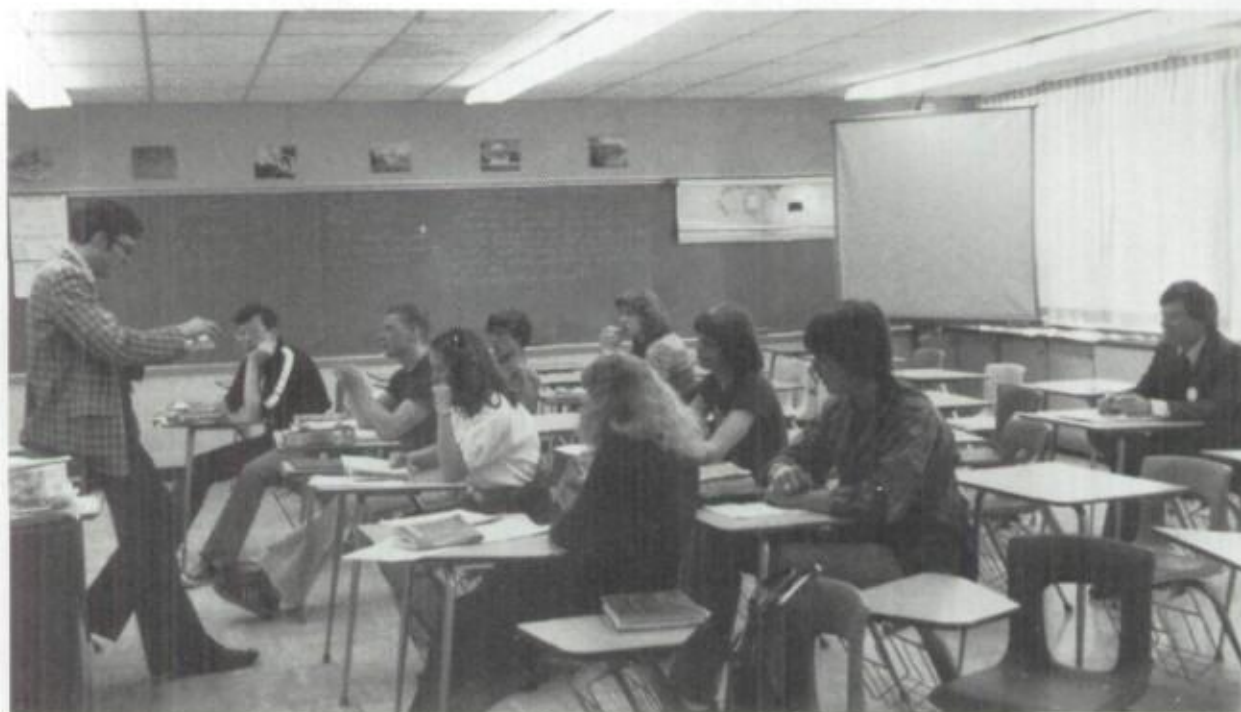

Marvin Webb of Pioneer JVS and Mr. Griffith discuss new ideas for the school newspaper.

Juli Fisher Is 1978 Homecoming Queen

The 1978 Homecoming activities were interrupted by rain. The Thursday evening homecoming parade and pep rally were delayed and many of the floats were rain-soaked. The traditional bonfire was not burned until the rescheduled pep rally on Friday afternoon. At pre-game ceremonies, it was announced that the Freshman class float was the winner of the float contest and that the football team had selected Juli Fisher as the 1978 Homecoming Queen. In an exciting game, the Mount Gilead Indians defeated the Northmor Knights by a score of 18 - 8. Saturday night the Homecoming Dance was held in the cafeteria.

Three - Act Comedy Opens Theatre Season

The lively and hilarious comedy "See How They Run" opened the 1978 - 79 theatre season on November 10, 11, and 12. Additional matinee performances were presented to junior high and high school audiences. Key figures in the mistaken identity farce are a pair of old friends - Clive Winton, an American actor, and Penelope Toop, an actress. Clive is now an Air Force Corporal stationed in England and Penelope is the wife of a vicar. Having toured in shows together at one time, Clive and Penelope have an innocent date by way of reunion. When they return to the vicarage, the pair get themselves in a dizzy dilemma that gets even more complicated by the minute. The couple learn upon their return that a sedate bishop is there, waiting to offer Penelope's husband a better position. The mistaken identity theme begins when the bishop meets Clive, who is dressed in the vicar's clergyman's garb. The fun reaches hilarious heights as five men in cleric clothes - one of them an escaped Russian prisoner and another bishop who is to take the service the next day - present a problem of who is who. In addition a self - righteous parishioner who is kept busy carrying tales to the vicar about his wife, a Cockney maid with an over - active imagination, and a British sergeant add to the comically complicated crisis.

Penelope and Clive share memories of the times when they toured together in the show PRIVATE LIVES.

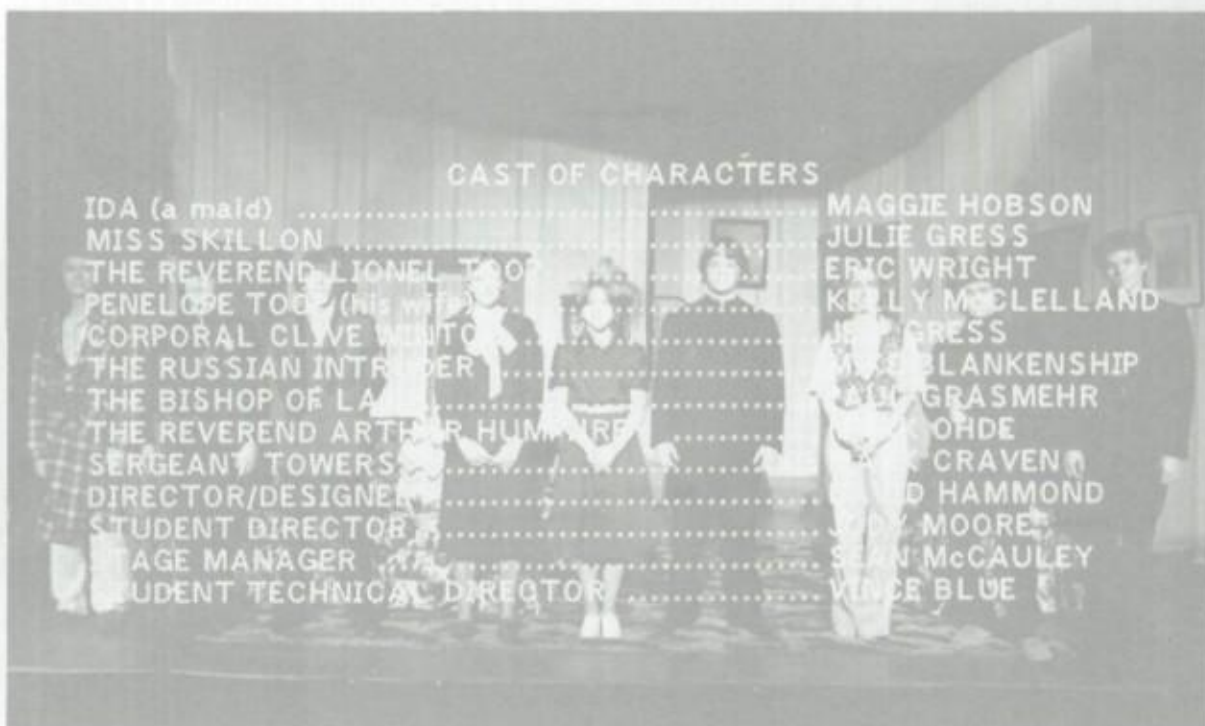

With everyone assembled except Miss Skillon, who is still in the closet, Sergeant Towers begins his interrogation with Ida.

After being hit on the head and having his clothes taken from him, the stunned Reverend Lionel Toop attacks the Bishop as he hides behind a chair.

Does he REALLY Love her?

While Miss Skillon is soused and out cold on the sofa, the Russian spy enters preparing to exchange clothes and places with Reverend Toop.

"And that's how it all began!"

As Corporal Clive Winton and Mrs. Toop re - create a scene from PRIVATE LIVES, Miss Skillon catches them in the act.

Sergeant Towers (Mark Craven) apparently is in need of a little stimulant before he attempts to discover who is the real Lionel Toop.

Corporal Clive Winton and Mr. Humphrey try to figure things out while Penelope Toop and her "Husband" look on nervously.

"Diary Of Anne Frank" Is Second Production

The exciting, uplifting story of a warm - hearted young girl as she grew from adolescence to young womanhood while hiding with her family from Nazi persecution in a confining attic was the basis for the second production of the 1978 - 79 theatre season. "The Diary of Anne Frank" was presented in the High School Lecture Room during February. The play is a dramatization of a real diary written by Anne Frank to chronicle the days of seclusion that began in July, 1942 when she was just thirteen. Over the course of two years she made entries vividly recording the problems, the courage, the quarrels, and the discomforts of the eight people cooped up in a cramped loft. It is not the diary's sharp portrayal of another chapter of war - time misery that has made it one of the modern theatre's greatest successes, but instead, the diary's poignant self - portrait of a girl who refused to be robbed of the adventure of adolescence; a girl who went right on having the usual joys and pains of growing up even in a miserable hideout, with doom hanging over her.

Miep explains to Mr. Frank how Anne's Diary was found after they were caught.

Anne, attempting to make friends with Peter, explains she had to leave her cat behind.

Mr. Dussell bolts his drink as they have a little drink to welcome him.

Bored with their daily routine, Anne dressed in Peter's clothes to add excitement to their life.

Mrs. Frank tries to settle Anne and Peter in a commotion resulting from Anne hiding Peter's shoes.

Thespians Sponsor New York Theatre Tour

In addition to producing two major shows, "See How They Run" and "The Diary of Anne Frank," students of the Mt. Gilead Theatre Department also presented two evenings of student directed Workshop Theatre productions. Students who directed the workshop productions were Lori Lupica, Angie Kuehne, Jody Moore, and Julie Gress. The highlight of the year was the annual spring New York Theatre Tour. While in "The Big Apple," students and community members saw current Broadway shows such as "They're Playing Our Song," "The Crucifer of Blood," "Sweeney Todd," the Easter show at Radio City Music Hall, and the longest running off-Broadway show, "The Fantastiks." Other activities included a seminar with Paxton Whitehead, who portrayed Sherlock Holmes in "The Crucifer of Blood;" a tour of Lincoln Center; a historical tour of Greenwich Village; and a backstage tour of the Helen Hayes Theatre. Additional time was spent shopping in the World Trade Center, the Village, and 5th Avenue shops; touring museums, the Empire State Building, and the Statue of Liberty; and eating in some of New York's finer restaurants. After returning from New York, theatre students attended various college spring musical productions. Students traveled to Heidelberg College to see "Pippin," to Bowling Green to see "Mame," to OSU Marion to see "The Fantastiks," and to Otterbein College to see "Brigadoon." The year concluded with an informal initiation and picnic at the State Lakes, the annual awards banquet at the Gateway Smorgasbord, and a canoeing trip to Mohican.

Six Graders Have An Interesting Year

The first special activity for sixth graders this year was environmental camp during the first week of October. Outdoor class sessions were held in forest and stream study, wildlife, field math, Indians, and pioneer life. Discovery groups participated in sports and cheerleading, outdoor art, explored an old cemetery, baked bread, dipped candles, and danced the Virginia Reel. Classroom elections, social studies projects, reading extension activities, and the celebration of events such as the 50th birthday of Mickey Mouse filled the school year. Friday afternoons during April and May were devoted to mini-courses. Activities included stamp collecting, quick snacks, horsemanship, first aid, jogging, softball, bowling, and nature hikes.

Ed Kimmey demonstrates how to seine marine life in the stream at camp.

Anna Gray and Mike Bush watch Earlene Linder check the progress of pancakes over the fire.

In field math, Melissa Hart and Melissa Compton pace off distances.

Ed Fidler shows students plaster casts of wild animal tracks found in the woods.

Students in Mrs. Robert's class campaigned for class offices. David Griffey, Mike Walters, and Dennis Geyer campaign for the position of treasurer.

Pam Bedwell, Anna Gray, Tammy Redmon, Connie Wigton, and Lisa Crawford watch as Mrs. Chipman prepares a banana boat for roasting.

John Harbaugh, Chuck Barton, Eric Van Schoyck, and Dennis Levings listen as postal employee John Stevens explains how sheets of stamps are printed.

During mini-courses, Sharon Junk watches Tammy Tinch practice correct horsemanship.

In the emergency squad vehicle, Troy Hill and Maria Leary use a stethoscope.

Students learn basic disco steps in mini-courses.

Tom Gompf, Susan Hughes, Debbie McAvoy, and Andy Russo made models of medieval castles as social studies projects.

1979, being the closing year of the decade of the 70's, has been a year filled with many school memories here at Mt. Gilead. We hope the 80's will hold many pleasant memories for the students following us in the future.

We feel it is quite fitting to be reminded of the meaning of the name of our yearbook. "And Mizpah; for he said, 'The Lord watch between me and thee, when we are absent one from another.'"

Genesis 31:49

God Bless,

Luane Campbell
